The Tree of Life links all species on Earth through a shared evolutionary history. Are you interested in how the immense diversity of life on earth (1.8 million species) evolved from a single life form that originated about 4 billion years ago? Want to learn about different species? Come work, learn and explore!
Library Publishing Collaboration

Library Publishing Redux: An Unprecedented Example of a Scholar/Library/Publisher Partnership

This month sees the publication of a book that represents an unprecedented example of library-author-publisher collaboration. While trying to avoid any blatant promotion of the book itself, I would like to discuss the origins and some of the implications of the collaborative project, which I believe are significant.

Before I begin, several disclosures are in order: first and most obviously, the University of Utah’s J. Willard Marriott Library is my employer. Second, Allyson Mower reports to me in her role as Scholarly Communications and Copyright Librarian here in the library. Third, David Crotty (our Editor in Chief here in the Scholarly Kitchen) is an employee of Oxford University Press, though not directly connected with their books program.

With those notices out of the way, let me explain the genesis of this project and why I think it’s so exciting and potentially important.
Digital Libraries (DLs) -- Objectives

- World Lit.: 24hr / 7day / from desktop
- Ubiquitous
- Integrated “super” information systems
- Usable, Useful
- Higher Quality, Lower Cost
- Education, Knowledge Sharing, Discovery
- Disintermediation -> Collaboration
- Universities Reclaim Property
- Interactive Courseware, Student Works

ND LTD: www.ndltd.org

- N D Ltd or Noodle TD
- Vision: Every thesis and dissertation in the world is:
  - Devised to take advantage of the most helpful electronic publishing methods
  - Shared globally and easily found
  - Supported by a suite of digital library services to aid authors, researchers, learners, universities
  - Preserved and migrated permanently
What are we doing?

- Aiding universities to enhance graduate education, publishing, and Intellectual Property Rights efforts
- Helping improve the availability and content of theses and dissertations
- Educating ALL future scholars so they can publish electronically and effectively use digital libraries (i.e., are Information Literate and can be more expressive)
ELECTRONIC THESSES AND DISSERTATIONS
A Sourcebook for Educators, Students, and Librarians

Examining how electronic publication of theses and dissertations may enhance graduate education, this text clarifies the composition, evaluation, dissemination, and preservation of electronic theses and dissertations (ETDs)—providing a conceptual framework for the development of effective ETD programs and identifying the main technical concerns related to the adoption of ETD initiatives. This volume contains answers, techniques, and methods that have proven effective in the longest-running library-group support effort for campus ETDs. Helping graduate students, research mentors, and librarians ease students through the transition from paper to electronic theses and dissertations, this text

➢ Addresses seven key questions that students often face when considering an ETD
➢ Studies how institutions are providing technical support and offering digitized versions of theses and dissertations
➢ Provides case study examples of how ETDs have evolved through the influence of new technologies and institutional efforts
➢ Analyzes currently utilized technologies for the publishing and maintenance of ETDs
➢ Examines strategies currently in use by universities for handling of copyright issues
➢ Discusses the best methods for cataloging ETDs to ensure that they can be easily found

Presenting studies by leading figures in the ETD community, Electronic Theses and Dissertations is a must-have guide for all
Mission Statement

Welcome to the Networked Digital Library of Theses and Dissertations (NDLTD), an international organization dedicated to promoting the adoption, creation, use, dissemination, and preservation of electronic theses and dissertations (ETDs). We support electronic publishing and open access to scholarship in order to enhance the sharing of knowledge worldwide. Our website includes resources for university administrators, librarians, faculty, students, and the general public. Topics include how to find, create, and preserve ETDs; how to set up an ETD program; legal and technical questions; and the latest news and research in the ETD community. More >>

Thesis Resources

For Researchers: Resources to find available open-access electronic theses and dissertations.

For Authors and Thesis Advisors: Resources to build a multimedia thesis, to promote research using open-access repositories, and to inform about copyright and publishing issues.

For Librarians, Academic Managers, and Faculty: Resources to set up and manage an open-access repository for theses.

Share your questions, comments, and ideas with the ETD community on the ETD Forum.

Please e-mail suggestions for additional thesis resources to admin@ndltd.org.

Managing and Improving Electronic Thesis and Dissertation Programs: A Practical Guide for Librarians

Matthew C. Mariner

Managing and Improving Electronic Thesis and Dissertation Programs: A Practical Guide for Librarians presents strategies for collecting and managing both traditional and non-traditional theses and terminal projects. This guide covers:

- Collecting and managing traditional ETDs
- Beginning and managing retrospective digitization projects;
- Improving the usability of current ETD programs
- Addressing complex and unique non-traditional theses and capstones and maximizing their accessibility
- Incorporating ETD collections into broader plans for marketing digital repositories

In relaying these topics this guide provides readers with illustrated project workflows, real-world case studies, project starters for non-traditional theses, tips and advice on authors’ rights, and helpful resources for further study and assistance. With these tools and more, readers of this book will have what they need to successfully navigate the world of electronic theses and dissertations.

Why ETD? Short Answer

- For Students:
  - Gain knowledge and skills for the Knowledge Society
  - Richer communication (digital information, multimedia, …)

- For Universities:
  - Easy way to enter the digital library field and benefit thereby ("no brainer" entrée into institutional repositories)

- For the World:
  - Global digital library – large, useful, many services

- General:
  - Save time and money
  - Increased visibility for all associated with research results
